Helping your little one fall in love with reading starts early!

Reading together in your child's early years builds confidence, supports language development, and sparks a lifelong love of stories.

With today being World Book Day, here are five easy ways to make reading a fun part of your day:

Make it part of your routine. A story before bedtime or a quiet reading moment during the day helps children feel comfortable with books.

Bring stories to life. Use silly voices, act out parts of the story, and have fun exploring the pictures together!

Let them lead. Give your little one the chance to choose their books, turn the pages, and talk about what they see.

Share stories in your first language. Reading to your baby in your own language will help them with their literacy skills.

Repetition is good! If your child wants to hear the same book over and over, that's okay. Familiar stories build confidence and understanding.

However you choose to share stories, making reading a fun and relaxed experience helps your little one build a love for books that will last a lifetime.
